In search of the sugar-filled nostalgia of childhood, Rosemary Pereira quit the mortgage business and followed her love of baking to open Heavenly Cupcake in the Gaslamp Quarter. Heavenly Cupcake lives up to its name, offering artistry and sublime flavor in its varied menu of cupcake choices, baked throughout the day to ensure freshness. Heavenly Cupcake's lounge is swanky and welcoming, a perfect relaxation stop while visiting the busy city center. "People come in with their families and girlfriends, have some organic coffee and a cupcake," explains Pereira. "It's something to do. We're a cupcake lounge, not just a plain bakery." Try the red velvet, probably the best around, or the orange zest, made with ingredients imported from Switzerland.
